

Where there's a will . . .

GARIOCH folk can make a will and help Third World charities at the same time.

Inverurie solicitors Peterkins, in Market Place, are asking for a suggested donation of £35 for making out the document next month.

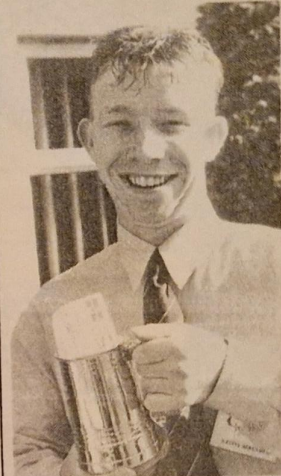

The scheme is part of the national Will Aid Campaign, supported by the TSB Bank, where donations go to developing countries.

Peterkins say making a will during November is a chance to provide for family, friends and relations and at the same time help children, families and communities in the Third World.

Donations will go to projects run by groups such as Actionaid, CAFOD, Christian Aid, Oxfam and Save the Children.

Business talks

SCOTTISH Enterprise's Schairman is to address senior representatives of the Federation of Small

IT WAS two in a row for top trainee quality surveyor Keith Machray, from Insch, when he scooped a building company award for the second year.

The 20-year-old was among 60 trainees with Edinburgh-based Morrison Construction Group who met in Perth to find out who had won the honours, which are handed out annually.

Keith, who has worked at the firm's Aberdeen office

Hill man honoured: Retired treasurer Charles Easton (front, second right) receives a gift from the Bailies of Bennachie, marking his 20 years in the post, from senior bailie John Nicol at their recent AGM. Office-bearers elected at the meeting in Inverurie Academy were senior bailie John Nicol, deputy senior bailie James Mackay, treasurer Gordon Ingram and clerk Paul Stallard.